

2009 AMM Award Nominations

The Association of Midwest Museums (AMM) is accepting nominations for the 2009 Awards for the following categories: Distinguished Service Award, Promising Leadership Award, Distinguished Career Award and the Best Practices Award.

The AMM Distinguished Service Award is given annually to a single individual. The award recognizes long-term career service to a museum professional with distinguished service to the museum community, particularly to AMM.

The AMM Distinguished Career Award is given annually to a museum professional who has a distinguished career and who has made significant contributions to the museum field.

The AMM Promising Leadership Award is given annually to individuals who have worked or volunteered for a museum or museum association for 10 years or less and provided exceptional service or shown outstanding commitment to the museum field. Prior service to AMM is not a requirement.

The AMM Best Practices Award is presented annually to a museum or cultural institution that has demonstrated leadership in the field through distinguished museum practices and/or innovative programming.

All recipients must be AMM members and must be present at the AMM annual conference to accept their award.

The dead line for submitting nominations is June 30, 2009. To nominate yourself or someone else, please complete the other side of this form and a letter detailing the nominee's history and qualifications (and resume or CV, if available) to:
AMM Awards Committee, P.O. Box 11940, St. Louis, MO 63112.
